ANNOUNCEMENTS.

For Appellate Judge.
We are authorized to announce JUDGE B. L. GUFFY as a candidate for re-election to the office of Judge of the Appellate Court in the Second Judicial District, subject to the action of the Republican party.

For Circuit Judge.
We are authorized to announce W. T. OWEN, of Daviess county, as a candidate for Circuit Judge in the Sixth Judicial District, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

LORD PAUNCEFOOT, British Ambassador, died at Washington Saturday.

The eruption of Mont Pelee has temporarily drawn public attention from Ben Tillman.

JULIA WARD HOWE, author of the "Battle Hymn of the Republic," celebrated her eighty-third birthday last Tuesday.

CAPTAIN H. S. IRWIN was nominated for re-election to Congress, and Judge Durrell for Judge of the Appellate Court by the Republican convention in Louisville Saturday. The election of each of them is reasonably certain.

In a personal letter to Sheriff C. P. Keown, a distinguished citizen of Ohio county, does Jailer Black the honor to say, "It has always been said of Tom Black that he was not only the most efficient but the most humane Jailer that ever turned a key on a prisoner." Perhaps the comparison is a little strongly drawn, but the compliment intended for Jailer Black is well deserved.

If steps are not taken to prevent it, there is going to happen an accident in this town over which some mother, wife or sweetheart will mourn. For many months the city wind mill, which failed of the purpose for which it was erected, has been given over to the sport of the winds, and its bearings, unloosed, are wearing rapidly, and a funeral is not many days off unless the life-crushing thing is taken down at once.

ALL the civil cases on the docket for this term of court were continued and the entire term devoted to the criminal docket. Legislators in all ages of the world's history, have believed that the certain punishment of criminals would lessen crime. Have criminals escaped punishment here so long that the vicious no longer fear a prosecution? We should as freely condemn the punishment of the innocent as we censure the miscarriage of it for the guilty, but we insist that a fair and speedy trial be given every man charged with violating the law.

We are in receipt of a communication from a number of reputable citizens of Owensboro, vindicating Jailer John Ashby, of that city against a complaint by H. L. Marsh, published in this paper last week, which appears in another column. We published the statement referred to entirely without malice toward the officials of Daviess county, but wholly upon the idea that an impartial newspaper should give everybody a hearing, and we had the misfortune to have an editorial explaining the situation miscarry in the composing room. We take pleasure in placing before our readers a vindication of Jailer Ashby and other officials connected with the Owensboro Jail by citizens of Daviess county who are reputable and worthy the confidence of the public.

In this issue of THE REPUBLICAN will be found the announcement of Judge B. L. D. Guffy for re-election to the office of Judge of the Appellate Court for the Second Judicial District of Kentucky subject to the action of the Republican party. Judge Guffy is at present Chief Justice of the highest court in Kentucky, and has well demonstrated his fitness to sit in that high court of justice. Judge Guffy will have no opposition for the nomination of his party and will win his election, not alone because the district is Republican, but because he richly deserves to win. It is to the lasting credit of Judge Guffy that during the darkest days of Kentucky's history he sat, majestic and calm, and upheld the law, although his official oath and judicial duty compelled him to uphold the damnable outrage perpetrated upon a people supposed to be free.

TO-DAY is sacred to the memory of the Nation's dead, and from the sunrise to the sunset of our country, loving hands are strewn flowers—God's messengers of love—upon the graves of the honored sons of battle who have gone up to join that grand reunion above. Age, with tottering and unsteady steps; youth, rich with faith and hope, and childhood, yet damp with the dew of life's morning, alike approach with reverence and love the still Sepulchers of our sleeping heroes. 'Tis well that it is so. The flag that gently yields its folds to the wooing winds, the flowers that breathe forth rich perfumes and the voiceless slabs, each join in an ecstasies of patriotism which is heard in the hearts of eighty millions of the best, the grandest, the noblest people with which Heaven has blessed the earth. Peace to the dust of the tired veterans who, weary of the march, have lain down to rest.

WHEN the attorneys for the defense in the Cap Davis murder trial had completed their argument, a court official awoke Mr. Rowe, who had slept through the argument for the defense, who arose, looking haggard and worn, and after getting, not without some difficulty, his mind collected, made one of the best speeches of his life. His eyes flashed the fire of the old days, and his voice was markedly strong. That earnest faculty that made a measure of greatness possible for him, served him well, and the jury returned a verdict of guilty, and gave the prisoner a term longer than those in the court room had expected. But when night came on, the lawyer who had made an argument which, perhaps, none of his legal associates could equal, was, in one respect, at least, like the Son of Man; he had not near to lay his head. "It is weeks like this that run has strewn along its path, that makes the hearts of loving wives and trusting children shudder at its power."

A Correction.
Owensboro, Ky., May 27, 1932.
THE REPUBLICAN in its issue last week by publishing a letter signed by H. L. Marsh purporting to give his experience in the Daviess County jail, we find upon examination, was not only false but does an injustice to the jailer, Mr. John Ashby, and to the Board of Health of the city of Owensboro.

We take pleasure in correcting any impression which may have been made by Marsh's letter and are glad of an opportunity to do both Mr. Ashby and the Board of Health the amplest justice.

It is not true that Mr. Ashby during the small-pox epidemic which prevailed in the Daviess County jail took no precautions to prevent the spread of the disease. Both he and Dr. C. M. Heavrin, who was in charge of the jail did everything that could be done to protect the safety of the prisoners and to make their unfortunate condition as comfortable as possible. Marsh in his letter says that Mr. Ashby burned the clothing of the prisoners, this is not true. Their clothing was burned by an order of the Board of Health and Mr. Ashby had nothing whatever to do with it. The Board of Health is composed of a competent corps of physicians among whom are both Democrats and Republicans, and we are advised that the course they pursued was both skillful, conservative and in the interest of the public health.

Mr. Ashby is one of the best jailers in the state, he treats his prisoners with humanity and kindness and keeps his jail in first-class sanitary condition at all times.

The charge of Marsh that Mr. Ashby exacted commission on purchases made by the prisoners is wholly false. It ought to be said in this connection that Dr. C. M. Heavrin who had charge of the jail both day and night and whose untiring and skillful attention to the unfortunate men entitled him to their most favorable consideration, made all purchases for the prisoners and Mr. Ashby had no connection whatever therewith.

Marsh's letter which appeared in last week's REPUBLICAN appears upon investigation to have been a fake, and moreover to have been inspired by malice and no credit whatever should be attached to any statement contained in his letter.

We make these statements in the interest of truth and in order that ample justice may be done and we make them cheerfully. CITIZENS.

Gold Mine in Christian.
Hopkinsville, Ky., May 27.—A large force of hands was put to work yesterday at the gold mines on the Cato farm, not far from Hawkins, in Northwest Christian. New machinery will be put in at once and regular mining operations will be resumed this week.

T. K. Wilson and other Sebree capitalists leased several hundred acres of land in that section last year and a tunnel forty-five feet in length was opened, but the main vein of gold was missed by about fifteen or twenty feet, when operations were suspended.

Some of the ore sent to a chemist assayed $2 to the ton. It is believed that gold in paying quantities will be found and preparations will be made to operate the mine on a large scale. The most improved mining machinery was purchased and a full force of hands will be given employment working with a night shift.

Another Eruption.
Fort de France, Island of Martinique, Monday, May 26—9 p. m.—Mont Pelee is again in eruption. Huge, inky-black clouds are rolling over Fort de France in great masses, in which there are peculiar lightning flashes. The inhabitants are now flocking into the great square of the town. If the demonstration increases a panic is imminent.

A very heavy surf has been beating on the shore for the last two hours and an enormous, grayish yellow cloud at a great height is dimly visible in the direction of Mont Pelee. The night is intensely dark and the stars are only faintly visible.

Fort de France is in no danger from the volcano, but there is considerable apprehension of panic in the night time, should the grayish-yellow cloud reach here and ashes and stones begin to fall. There are noises from the volcano at present. For the space of one hour flames rose from the crater to the height of 153 meters. The crater seemed to be about 300 meters in diameter.

When medicines are used for chronic constipation, the most mild and gentle oil, such as Castor Oil, should be employed. Their use is not followed by constipation as they leave the bowels in a natural and healthy condition. For sale by all druggists.

Our Premiums.

THE REPUBLICAN since its organization has been closely allied with the teachers of Ohio county. Two county Superintendents have been at the same time editors of this paper, and the present Superintendent, if he will pardon me for saying so, does at least some of the editorial work on the paper when the editor is out of town. The teachers of the county have appreciated the friendliness of the paper toward them by giving it a liberal support, in recognition of which we are making the most liberal gifts to them ever offered by a local newspaper in the county, in a popular contest. The high character of the Board of Directors of this paper, C. M. Barnett, S. A. Anderson, C. P. Keown, Wood Tinsley and Nicholas Barras is a guarantee that the buggy and watch given away will be of the class we are representing them to be. We do not want that the teachers will go to work at once to swell the circulation of THE REPUBLICAN, and take an interest in the contest which must result in substantially rewarding two of their number.

Eczema, Psoriasis, Salt Rheum, Tetters and Acne

Belong to that class of inflammatory and disfiguring skin eruptions that cause more genuine bodily discomfort and worry than all other known diseases. The impurities or sediments which collect in the system because of poor digestion, inactive kidneys and other organs of elimination are taken up by the blood, saturating the system with acid poisons and fluids that ooze out through the glands and pores of the skin, producing an insupportable itching and burning, and "I can cheerfully endorse your S. S. S. as a cure for Eczema. I was troubled with it for 25 years and tried many remedies with no good effects, but after using a few bottles of S. S. S. was entirely relieved." Wm. Campbell, 315 W. HOUSECLEANING TIME.

Men may talk of their strenuous life. But 'tis nothing to that of the wife. Who with soap, brush and broom. Charges through ever room. Everywhere against dirt waging strife.

'Tis a season of struggles and woes When from cellar to attic she goes, Making every place clean Till no dirt can be seen.

And not even a small dust speck shows.

There are floors she must patiently scrub. There are windows to wash and to rub. Down the stairs on her knees She will go by degrees.

Using water on them by the tub. Thus from rising to setting of sun, Till the task of housecleaning is done, Goes the vigilant wife In her strenuous life.

And is happy o'er triumphs thus won.

But the man who so greatly is blessed With a wife of such vigor possessed, Makes the bluff he must work Yet he's playing the shirk.

And is out somewhere taking a rest.

Ingenious Bishop Comes to Grief.

A distinguished Episcopal clergyman was once called on to officiate at a fashionable summer resort church, and, finding only a short surplice and, no cassock in the vestry, was very much disturbed at the thought of having to appear in a vesture that to the frivolous would look like a white shirt and trousers. But a happy inspiration came to him. Why not wear one of his wife's black petticoats? The portion that would show below the surplice would look like the regulation cassock, and no one would ever be the wiser. So he hurriedly sent one of the ushers with an explanatory note to his wife at the hotel, and in the nick of time the petticoat arrived. The makeshift turned out to be a perfect success, and no one at a distance could tell that he was not wearing a cassock. After the close of service he decided to go out to the body of the church without taking off his robes, in order to greet some friends. And he was soon the center of a group of fashionable women, when a green Irish maid from the hotel came up, and in a loud voice, said to him: "Yer Reverence, the missus sint me alter her petticoat that ye do wearin', an' I wuz to wait till ye take it off."

Passing Fancies.

Everything looks black to the man who is blue.

Writers devote a great deal of space to describing indescribable scenes.

When a man has his umbrella in soak he is in a good way to get wet.

It is always the giddy young person who is last to take a tumble.

The duller the market the closer the shave some speculators have.

It is a critical time in the life of a boy when he begins to want a night key.

As a rule it is easy to see through a veiled threat.

It is probably called a chance rail because young couples take such chances in front of it.

No orator can move an audience like the fool who yells fire.

The man who is always tipsy rarely stands well in the community.

When it said that a man has been weighed and found wanting, it is well to ascertain who adjusted the scales before reaching a final conclusion.

Origination excuses to get out to the game has much to do with keeping alive American inventive genius.

To say that a girl has been treating a fellow like a dog may mean that she has been feeding him on bonbons and riding him around in her trap.

A good many of the tramp stories that find their way into the magazines are on the bum.—J. R. Hornady, in Louisville Times.

The Road Question.

If the following brief thought taken from the editorial columns of the Brandenburg Messenger were pasted in the hat of every citizen of Kentucky and read every time the hat was taken off or put on and its full meaning well considered, the question of good roads in Kentucky would be settled for good, and well settled:

'Good roads like good streets, make habitation along them desirable. They economize time and force in transportation of products, reduce wear and tear on horses, harness and vehicles and enhance the market value of real estate. They raise the

Mooted Points of Law.

An English writer given a good example of those quibbles in legal practice that have a sort of fascination for certain minds. Some years ago, while traveling on the Continent, he met the principal lawyer for the government of one of the principalities, who told him of a curious legal question. It had reference to a railway station at the boundary between two principalities. Some one standing outside the window of the ticket office put his hand through and robbed the till inside. The boundary line lay between the thief stood and the till, so that he was actually in one territory, while the crime was committed in the other. Here was a nicety for the gentleman learned in the law to crack. Which of the principalities should undertake the prosecution of the culprit?

At it they went in good earnest, and the arguments on either side were Something New Under The Sun.

All Doctors have tried to cure Catarrh by the use of powders, acid gases, inhalers and drugs in paste form. Their powders dry up the mucous membranes causing them to crack open and bleed. The powerful acids used in the inhaler have entirely eaten away the same membranes that their makers have aimed to cure, while pastes and ointments cannot reach the disease. An old and experienced practitioner who has for many years made a close study and speciality of the treatment of Catarrh, has at last perfected a treatment which when faithfully used, not only relieves at once, but permanently cures Catarrh, by removing the cause, stopping the discharges, and curing all inflammation. It is the only remedy known to science that actually reaches the afflicted parts. This wonderful remedy is known as "Snuffles the Guaranteed Catarrh Cure" and is sold at the extremely low price of One Dollar, each package containing internal and external medicine sufficient for a full month's treatment and everything necessary to its perfect use.

long and vehement till the whole case was embalmed in many volume. At last one side yielded so far as to say: "We will permit you, as an act of courtesy, to prosecute while at the same time reserving all our sovereign rights."

At this point of the recital I asked, "And how did the prosecution end?"

"Ah! that is quite another matter," said my friend. "There was no arranging what we should do when we caught the robber but we never caught him."
